Healing and Evangelisation Conference— January 2005

Catholic Charismatic Renewal invites you to join with them in celebrating the 30th Anniversary of Paul VI's Apostolic Exhortation on Evangelisation in the Modern World (Evangelii Nuntiandi).

Helping Catholics encounter Jesus in a personal way, a conference, "Let Down your Nets for a Catch" (Lk 5:4) will be held in the Grand Buffet Hall, at Union House and conference Centre, Melbourne University from 17—21 January 2005.

National and international speakers will focus on the means and methods in this major event of HEALING and EVANGELISATION. Other presenters include Archbishop Denis Hart, Bishop Mark Coleridge, Bishop Christopher Prowse, Jan Heath and Brian Welsh, as well as Bishop Joe Grech, Michelle Moran and Fr John Rea.

This is a conference for a new era for the Catholic Church.

Its focus is on a new evangelisation in the power of the Holy Spirit. This conference will be a watershed event for the Church in the 3rd Millennium.

A personal invitation from Archbishop Hart:

Let down your nets for a catch Luke 5:4

Dear Brothers and sisters,

I am delighted to be Patron of the Conference on Healing and Evangelisation... and to welcome many visitors to Melbourne.

I pray that this Conference will enable many visitors to encounter the Gospel more deeply in prayer, to be inspired by the challenge which Jesus gives, so that we will become true apostles ready to "let down our nets for a catch." (Lk 5:4)

Thirty years ago, Pope Paul VI wrote his Encyclical Letter, "Evangelii Nuntiandi" on the proclamation of the gospel. Three years ago Pope John Paul II stressed that all of the life of the Church must be seen in the focus of evangelisation.

May this Conference help us all to encounter Christ more deeply, to acquire a more profound holiness as the preparation for a new launch into the deep of the world to engage the men and women of today and to draw them like a magnet to the Gospel.

I look forward to being with you in Melbourne.

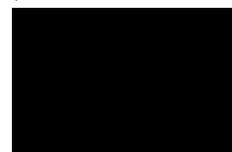

Yours sincerely in Christ,
Archbishop Denis Hart.

As the year 2004 draws to a close I want to take this opportunity to thank all those who contributed in any way to the success of the School. It has been a very good year with many positive developments in the life of the School and for this we are very grateful to God for his guidance and grace and to those people who responded to the grace of God with great enthusiasm and generosity.

This year, we held twenty-one courses in twelve dioceses, including two in Hamilton diocese in New Zealand. The New Life and the Emmaus courses have proved to be very popular and effective.

With the new Brisbane School there are now nine Schools of Evangelisation established in Australia. Each School in its own unique way is promoting evangelisation in the Australian Church. As well as running courses, the Schools are involved in many evangelisation activities such as parish visitation and missions, healing services, street evangelisation, a major concert in the heart of Adelaide, adult education courses and Alpha courses.

There is a great openness to evangelisation in the Church today. The message has gotten through that indeed the Church does exist to evangelise and many dioceses and parishes are looking for ways to become a missionary church. The development of the Parish Evangelisation strategy in the Melbourne School is proving to be a move of the Holy Spirit and the response in the parishes where this formation program has been presented has been very exciting.

Next year is looking to be a landmark year for the School. Windows of opportunity are presenting themselves everywhere and we are going to be calling on people to respond with great generosity, in terms of time, resources and prayer, so we can capitalize on these opportunities for evangelisation.

So please, pray for the School. Pray especially for those in leadership, that we will have the wisdom and courage to follow the path the Holy Spirit is setting before us. Pray for protection for those in leadership - recently four of our School leaders have been struck down with sickness! And pray for a generous response from School graduates when the call goes out for helpers to run courses, for donations to support the work of the School, for evangelisers to be involved in parish visitation, for promoters to recruit participants and for contact people to organize opportunities to present the Parish Evangelisation program to their parish priest and council.

Have a wonderful Christmas and really celebrate the birth of our precious Lord and Saviour. Where would we be without Jesus?

Let's take to heart the words Jesus spoke to his disciples at Jacob's Well, so the will of the Father will be done and the work of Jesus will be brought to completion in the lives of those who as yet do not know him.

"Well, I tell you, look around you, look at the fields; already they are white, ready for harvest! Already the reaper is being paid his wages, already he is bringing in the grain for eternal life, so that sower and reaper can rejoice together." Jn 4:35-36

Song 2:4 He has taken me to the banquet hall, and his banner over me is love.

These were the words given to me written inside a red paper heart at the opening of a "New Life" weekend Course held at St. Mary's Hall, Bairnsdale.

I wasn't sure what to expect from the weekend event, but after listening to Nan Deakin's vibrant delivery of our first lesson in faith, I was excited.

There were about fifty participants in the course, and over the weekend we all intermingled happily getting to know each other during the coffee and lunch breaks. I was deeply impressed by the talented presenters, Nan Deakin, Sam and wife Jo Guidice and Patrick Kelly. Their own absolute conviction of God's love and the work of the Holy Spirit in their lives lent weight to their words. They spoke of the Love of God, of Sin, Salvation in Jesus, Faith and Conversion.

They challenged us to look at our own lives and evaluate where we stood in the light of God's mercy. Were we truly fulfilled? Did we have peace or were we anxious and fearful? Did we need the salvation of Jesus? All questions luke-warm Catholics need to ask themselves, I thought. At the end of the first day we were left with much to ponder.

To start the second day, Sunday, we went to a wonderful Mass at St. Mary's. The Church is noted for its ornately painted Italianate style mural ceiling and altar areas. Fr. Denis O'Bryan, the Parish Priest, celebrated the Mass which was attended by a large congregation.

After this joyful service we all met in the hall, eager to reinforce our interest of the previous day.

We were not disappointed. Day two was to transform us in the Spirit. Our leaders had given testimony to God's work in their lives and challenged us through words direct from Scripture, too powerful to ignore.

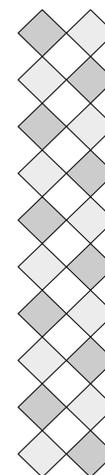

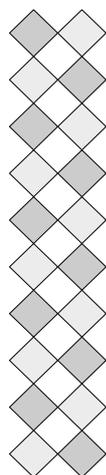

Gathered before the Blessed Sacrament we proclaimed the Lordship of Jesus and signed over our lives to his Will. Then, as we sat in silent prayer, a tangible feeling of love spread like a mantle over us.

The words from the Song of Solomon on my red paper heart prophetically gushed forth from me.

Emmaus—Oak Flats

Brad Weidersehn

Twenty two participants attended the Emmaus course conducted by the Wollongong School over the weekend of 21-22 August in Oak Flats.

The team was blessed by the assistance of Lucy and Eddie Grasso from the Sydney School and an unscheduled visit on the first day by Bishop Peter Ingham whose support is a great encouragement for our work.

Not only the participants but also the team found the scripture coming alive in their hearts as they journeyed from Jerusalem to Emmaus and back. The teachings, the praise and worship and the fellowship all contributed to a blessed weekend.

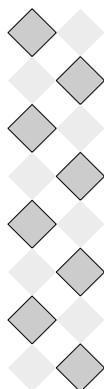

Some of the comments received from the participants about the talks were: very good, very deep; it even brought tears to my eyes; I feel you were especially filled with the Holy Spirit; very thought provoking; your words spoke to me and presented the reason for my coming along this weekend.

This was only the third course run by the Wollongong team and significantly was the first course where the team gave all the teachings.

EMMAUS—BRISBANE

Dora Mollee

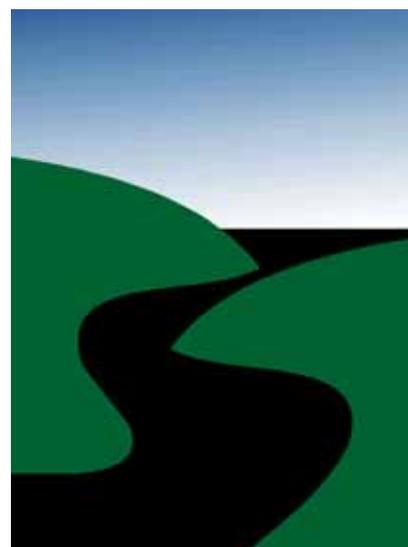

The Catholic School of Evangelisation held the Emmaus course at St Paul's Parish, Woodridge. I just want to share with my fellow believers, how wonderful and enlightening the course was for me.

The scriptures were brought to life, presented by a team of dedicated people, who have a desire and hunger for God's word and present it in a way that becomes personal to us.

Today, more than ever we need to understand and know scripture, to ponder and digest the Word as the prophet Ezekiel did. We need to know God's word to use as a battle cry, to withstand the schemes of the evil one, the flesh and the world.

St Jerome once said: "Ignorance of the scriptures is ignorance of Christ." Hosea 4:6 also says: "My people are destroyed for lack of knowledge." I myself was very blessed by the course, it opened my eyes to a greater understanding, I was renewed with the love of Jesus and his Word. I'm that other disciple walking with Jesus, traveling in my journey just as he did with the disciples on the road to Emmaus. I highly recommend all parishes to experience the same journey.

Alpha – a Tool for Evangelisation

Following on from the Youth Formation of Disciples course early in the year at Cowwarr in the Sale Diocese, two of the graduates went on to help run a very successful regional youth Alpha course in Traralgon from July to September, with over forty teenagers attending. Well done Nicole and Mark!!

As a result of the earlier adult Alpha course in Traralgon, two participants from that course recently became Catholics at a beautiful ceremony attended by many of their friends from Alpha. It seems the secret of running Alpha successfully is to keep running the courses so that the circle of contacts reaches out further and further. So if you are using Alpha as a tool to evangelise, keep persevering and you're sure to see the results over time.

NEW LIFE—BAIRNSDALE

Beryl Tunzi

“What is your deepest heart’s desire?”

This was a question put to us in the ‘New Life’ course; it suggested a hopeful possibility of our heart’s desire being answered.

The two days following that question were full of magnificently presented talks, activities and music which led the 50 plus participants (aged 16 – 89 yrs) into a renewed comprehension of the Church’s teaching, and a deepened commitment and ability to live a Christian life.

Our faith and knowledge was renewed, re-kindled, stimulated and informed as four very competent, committed and caring leaders opened up scripture and helped us apply it to normal everyday living.

Each session led our faith further into an expectant belief in the immensity of a wise God’s love for us – “I have called you by name”; “My steadfast love for you will not be removed”. Through Jesus and His Holy Spirit God the Father wants only the very best for us; He wants to pour on us all an abundance of His giftedness, forgiveness and healing. However, we must ask and open our minds and hearts to receive.

How? Come to the next

‘New Life’ seminar and find out! There is so much more content in the course to which this small summary cannot do justice.

Lighted by singing, laughter and fun the Schools of Evangelisation courses are treasure chests of renewal surprises for everybody – priests, religious, lay, young and old.

In this ‘New Life’ course the Holy Spirit provides a new, or perhaps first-time awakening of our spirit for some people, and for ALL He establishes a solid spring board to go forward. This is a course not to be missed if you want your heart’s desire to be activated.

Think about it. What IS your heart’s desire?

Formation of Disciples—St Augustine’s

Irene Soon

Two months ago I was invited to attend the School of Evangelisation’s “Formation of Disciples” course as part of the Alpha team in Saint Augustine’s. What a wonderful experience it was, and little did I know that accepting that invitation was going to be life changing.

Before the start of course I asked God for three things

1. That I grow in my journey with Jesus
2. That I widen my circle of friends at Saint Augustine’s
3. That I equip myself with tools of discipleship for my work in Alpha.

I definitely took home with me the memory of lovely people who ran the course. What amazed me was that they openly shared with us their disappointments, admitted their failures and vulnerability in their journey as disciples. I do not know any other teachers who openly revealed their weaknesses like they did.

We were very touched and as we shed a few tears with them our respect for them grew, not only were they sincere, they were terribly hard working as well. The amount of effort they put into making the sessions interesting is amazing, from props to costumes and all the little details, we didn’t have a chance to be bored!

The best part of all was the acceptance, love and hugs we received. I remember being put in a difficult position when we were asked to make a decision to be a disciple, just like John was a beloved disciple to Jesus, I knew God was leading me in that direction, but I liked my comfort zone and wanted to be a part time Christian. I was also told that the life journey of a disciple wouldn’t always be easy. It could sometimes mean having to make a choice between Jesus and family, having to face persecution and yielding to God’s will.

One of the most meaningful sessions for me was when we had to prioritize our life “baggage” and keep one most important possession we have... It was relatively easy until it came to my wardrobe, the thought of having to give up my favorite MNG or Sportsgirl outfits made me feel like crying! Thank God I came to my senses and chose God to keep as my last luggage. It was a very liberating experience.

Another session which made an impression on me was the one about relationship with one’s self as precious. I always knew that Jesus loved me because He died for me on the cross, but I never truly believed that He would have also died for me if I was the only person on earth. As I stood before the crucifix with my arms outstretched and said “I am worth this much because Jesus shed His last drop of blood for me” I felt His love overwhelming me in all my brokenness. It is one thing to know His love but to experience it is mind blowing!!

At the end of the course I left with definitely more friends, a deeper calling to evangelise through Alpha, knowing that we have all been invited to be His beloved disciples, we have all been chosen, hopefully we will not be frozen!!

Wrapped in the arms of Jesus

Cathy McCue

On the 11th May 1994 I began a relationship with my Lord and Saviour Jesus Christ. This was the night when the healing power of the Holy Spirit touched my life and turned me around.

A prayer meeting was to be held by Brendan Walsh, a Catholic lay evangelist. My husband (RIP) was to attend with me, but he changed his mind and I attended without him. I did not have any understanding of how the meeting was conducted. I was holding on to anger, bitterness and unforgiveness. My husband and I were separated. I had lost my home and later my job. My married life involved constant quarrelling with my husband. We had three children who were very hurt emotionally - listening to our fights and anger towards each other. Our quarrelling through their growing years was so bad that in their teenage years they wanted us to separate in order to have peace. When my husband and I were separated, he was diagnosed with a malignant brain tumour. I returned to his bedside with the children at the hospital where he stayed for three months, at this time I was still carrying the burden of anger and bitterness.

Brendan Walsh led the entire prayer meeting. He took us through a healing prayer of repentance and forgiveness. I was asked to bring to mind all whom had hurt me and to forgive each one, mentioning each my name. I was then asked to bring to mind all whom I had hurt and needed to ask forgiveness from. It was when I ACKNOWLEDGED my sins of unforgiveness, anger and resentment, that I was able to invite Jesus into my heart and allow the power of his Holy Spirit to begin his healing work in me. I began to receive the interior cleansing, remembering all whom I had to ask forgiveness from and be willing to forgive all who had hurt me. These moments were accompanied with an outward expression of tears and while I lay in the spirit for about 45 minutes, the crying seemed to come from the pit of my stomach. During this time, my mouth formed the word 'Jesu' (which at the time I didn't understand but kept repeating). When I was helped up, the preacher opened his arms, gave me a hug and said, "Jesus has touched you." He repeated the same before I left the hall.

When I arrived at the door of my home that night, I felt an urge to rush to my husband, kneel beside him and ask for his forgiveness, which he immediately gave me. I believe that the love and mercy of Jesus with the power of his spirit, touched, not just me, but my husband as well, in his willingness to forgive and love me until the day the Lord called him to his Kingdom. I also believe that my husband received the gift of courage to be able to say that he decided to turn his anger into acceptance during his time of illness, which he bore patiently.

The Lord's blessing hand was upon our three children as well, when we were told that they had never felt unloved by either one of us throughout the years.

I believe that it was only when I left the venom in God's hands that his life changing power was at work in me.

The next morning I couldn't wait to open the word of God - something I had not done for over fifteen years. The words were leaping out at me. I now understand that Jesus was speaking to me through his word. I wanted to change my ways and be a new person for him. Thank you Jesus for the day you wrapped me in your arms.

I continue to draw close to my Lord and make straight my bent ways through the teachings and healing power of the Holy Spirit with fellowship at St Andrew's Charismatic Prayer Group.

Kindly Note: Mary Quinn prayed over me along with Brendan Walsh. I believe in my heart that the Holy Spirit gave me a profound conversion experience.

Participants of the New Life Course In Pymble

GIFTS OF THE HOLY SPIRIT

Mary Crawford

On 27th September 2004, I nervously embarked upon my first School of Evangelisation course at Our Lady, Help of Christians, East Brunswick. It was called 'Formation in the Gifts of the Holy Spirit' and went for four days.

There were eighteen participants and we were immediately divided into three teams for the duration of the course. In the ensuing days, individuals in each team were bonded by love into one Body of Christ as we supported and encouraged one another whenever doubt assailed us.

Such a scenario also engendered leadership skills and creativity in community activities. There was even an element of competitiveness as each team did a role-play based on the previous day's teachings. Peals of laughter rang out whilst my community 'Emmanuel' were dressing up. We wouldn't have won an Oscar for our acting, but we had a lot of fun and got our message across!

What were the teachings? We learnt about Kerygma, the core message of the Gospel which Jesus proclaimed by his preaching and ministry; how to have a Charismatic mentality; the sacramental, Messianic and Charismatic signs; the Gifts and Charisms of the Holy Spirit with emphasis on discernment of Spirits and Healing, especially physical and inner healing; the importance of community and Mary, Star of Evangelisation to name a few topics.

The ministry workshops made me realise that the Gifts of the Holy Spirit carry enormous responsibility with them. One requires purity of heart, humility, courage and most of all, love of one's neighbour to use them. The Gifts of the Holy Spirit empower a person for the benefit of a whole community and not for personal glorification. It is only through the grace of God that we receive these gifts and He alone knows which gifts are suitable for each individual. We must treasure the gifts we have been graced with and use them with humility, faith and love in Jesus' name.

As I listened and absorbed what our anointed teachers imparted, I felt the outside world and its problems slowly recede as I focused every fibre of my being upon Jesus. Like an animal lapping at a water hole, I enriched my parched and thirsty soul with the life-giving waters of the Holy Spirit.

Through the grace of God, I received a deep inner healing during Mass on the final day. I had been spiritually struggling for months and was spiralling down into a black hole of despair, but now I feel the joy of the Lord in my life! The purifying fire of the Father's love has filled me to overflowing and all pain and sorrow has dissipated to be replaced by a deep tranquillity. Thank you Lord.

I encourage everyone, when the opportunity arises, to attend a SOE course. It will enrich your faith and change your life...as it did to me. My soul opened up like a flower as it received droplets of spiritual nourishment from our inspired teachers and I hunger to learn more about our Catholic faith. All I need now is the boldness to step out in faith and be an effective witness of Jesus' mercy and compassion.

NEW AGE CONFERENCE

GERRI BOLDRINI

Just a big 'thank you' for advertising our Conference in your magazine. It was a huge success. Fr. Vic was fantastic and the whole week-end came together beautifully. On the Saturday we had over eighty participants and sixty people made use of the full accommodation. The food was excellent and the rooms more than comfortable.

Among the many other things, Fr Vic showed us all that the tool we need to use in our battle against the invasion of 'New Age' practices is LOVE. Not judgment and definitely not fear. He asked us to examine our conscience with the following questions: Do we truly and honestly know who we are; Do we know who we are in Christ; [Psalm 139] Do we know how valuable we are to God?

His favourite analogy is the story of a bank teller who, starting his job, is given the choice between twelve months of studying 'false banknotes' [wrong spirituality] or one week studying the 'true note' [Jesus] Bishop Joe spoke very strongly on the need to examine our minds with the question "Who do you say I am?"

He would like a Diocesan Conference to be an annual event.

Lorella, Angelo and Marissa came from Brunswick and supported Fr. Vic. for which we are eternally grateful.

Once again 'Thank you'
God bless you

Divine Mercy Testimony

Grandma is 96 and she's done some not too nice things in her life. Now that she's living her last days on this earth, we have been quite concerned about her eternal future. She has lost her short term memory, so speaks of things from her past, over and over. One pet hate of hers is her step mother, who she has refused to forgive. My husband, John, and I have been praying for her - that she may somehow repent and be forgiven her sins before she dies, but we really couldn't imagine how this would happen, as she is not in her right mind and she has repeatedly refused to be confessed and receive Holy Communion.

I was given a brochure on Divine Mercy recently, and I read how, if we pray the Divine Mercy for someone who is dying, Jesus will stand between that person and God, not as Judge, but as Saviour. So one day when we were visiting Grandma in hospital, I was chatting with her while John silently sat to the side, praying the Divine Mercy. And who should walk into the room, but a Catholic priest! To cut a long story short, he anointed her, absolved her of all her sins and she received Communion!

It was all John and I could do to hold back the tears while she received Jesus. His mercy and love touched us to our core - that Our Lord could care so much about this elderly lady, that he would ensure she would not leave this earth with serious sin inside her. And next day, when we visited her, she spoke again of her stepmother. There was no longer any malice or hatred in her words - only understanding and forgiveness. The Jesus inside her did the forgiving for her, because Grandma was unable to forgive by herself. That's Divine Mercy!

River of Life

*We start our life cycle
As but a drop
So innocent and clear
And singing God's tune.*

*We dance in the sunlight
And play in the shadows
We rest in the quiet
Then glide over the stone.*

*But then comes the call
Of a relentless pursuit
But to what is our goal
To what is our prize.*

*Both we must know
To cause us to scurry
We press on bemoaning
This river of worry.*

*We gaze in awe
At our silvery spangle
Neglecting the eerie
Of the murky down under.*

*But we feel all the mightier
As we observe our great size
Yet still none the wiser
Than we were at the stone.*

*In the slow of our torrent
There's no time to relent
No time for our purpose
No time to repent.*

*But what is our purpose
We question our cause
But flippantly pass by
The answer to all.*

*Still onwardly press
Until comes that day
When all our lives mingle
In that greatest of gazes.*

*This drop is forgotten
So innocent and clear
Tainted by others
So far and so near.*

*Beholding to oneself
Is the voice at the call
For He could have curbed
The flow of the tide.*

Evangelising with Divine Mercy

Anna Breheny

Recently, I had the pleasure of meeting renowned comedian, John Canavan, director of the Divine Mercy Centre in Camberwell, Victoria. He shared with me, his testimony and how he evangelises using the message of Divine Mercy.

John recalls how an "Rated comedy career and a series of tragedies brought him to his knees before God. Broken hearted and defeated, he found himself in the back of a church, crying for 45 minutes. "God, I don't even know if I believe," he cried, "but if you're there, can you please help me." When he left the church, he saw a pamphlet about Medjugorje and decided to go. In a confessional, in this country far from home, he began his journey back to God.

When he came out of the confessional, a woman gave him a book about Divine Mercy, telling him it could change his life. As he read the very first sentence, "I show more mercy to the sinner than I do to the just," the healing rays of Jesus' love and mercy touched his aching heart and thus began a conversion, from a life of sin and apostasy, to the missionary apostolate of promoting Divine Mercy to the world.

Divine Mercy is a message that's transforming the world and spreading like wildfire. "Mankind will not have peace until it turns with trust to my mercy" Jesus says, and asks us to "Tell aching mankind to snuggle close to My merciful heart, and I will fill it with peace". We the baptised and the faithful, are the ones Jesus has chosen to bring this message to the world.

The image is miraculous in itself, having been revealed to St Faustina by Our Lord in the early 1930s. It has the power to touch, heal and convert. John says, "When someone comes up to me and says their life was turned around because of this leaflet, that's what it's all about."

So what can we as keen evangelisers do? Firstly we can be apostles of mercy by our example.

Secondly we can pray the Chaplet as often as we can, for ourselves and for the conversion of all sinners.

Thirdly, we can evangelise by giving people Divine Mercy pamphlets, leaving them at the back of a church, or ordering them for our church piety stall.

It's not our job to convert - God does that. We're just the carriers of his message. Our job is to give the pamphlets and the prayer cards out and be there for people when they need Jesus.

John, in a gentle way, gives a prayer card or a pamphlet to people and says, "Look, I know you mightn't believe in God yet but there may come a time, as it did in my life, that you might need him. Take this and say, 'Jesus I trust in you', when that time comes."

John also shared with me, some other stories that we can use to bring people to Jesus through the Divine Mercy:

Noel Rode is John's co-worker at the Divine Mercy centre. He tells how, when the Chaplet of Divine Mercy is prayed for a dying person, Jesus will stand before that person and God at the moment of their death, not as Judge but as Saviour. So when Noel's aunt was dying in hospital, he sat beside her with his hand on her forehead, praying the Chaplet. She passed away peacefully and as Noel drove home that day, he saw her face before him, bright and luminous as the sun. She said, "Thank you, Noel, for your prayers."

Bishop Christopher Prowse experienced a conversion to the Divine Mercy in Africa. He was deeply touched when he saw a group of men praying the Chaplet so fervently and wanted to learn more about it.

One man read about the promise of forgiveness on Divine Mercy Sunday through confession, he went to the confessional, received the sacraments and happened to die two weeks later.

A priest tells of a person who saw a brochure and came to confession and said, "Bless me father... it's been seventy years since my last confession." At that, with tears in his eyes, the priest stood up and embraced the man, welcoming him home. The man's penance, the priest said, was waiting seventy years.

Another priest had been listening to confessions for twelve hours straight. He was tired and just about to go when the door creaked open and someone knelt down. He heard, "Bless me father... it's been fifty years since my last confession." The priest asked why the person came this particular day and the man handed him a Divine Mercy leaflet through the screen, saying, "Father, what have I got to lose?"

After John had spoken at Mother Teresa's convent in Calcutta, Mother left her sick bed to tell John, "The message of Divine Mercy touches the heart straight away; it is love and mercy in action."

Divine Mercy is bringing people back to the church and back to the heart of Jesus. Let's do our part in promoting this urgent message to our needy world.

John Canavan is happy to give his moving and powerful witness at your church, either in the homily time around Divine Mercy Sunday (second Sunday of Easter), or in a church hall for a crowd.

MARIA LUFF

On a quiet Saturday morning in August 2004, in a quaint blue-stone church called Saint Augustine's another course called "John Formation of Disciples" commenced. Praise God!!

Mainly Indonesian students filled our classroom, all eager and ready to start at 9am sharp and guess what, we had no over heads for music! Well why worry? As usual the Holy Spirit took over. A group of students began to praise and worship. Who was leading who? That was the big question - definitely them!

Tears rolled down my cheeks at the absolute, sheer beauty of their singing, their praising and what stood out most of all was their incredible love for Jesus. I knew right there and then I would learn much from these beautiful young people who have such a hunger for increasing their knowledge of God and His Word, and I felt sure the rest of the team felt the same way.

Not only were they experts at praise and worship, they could cook as well. After mentioning to them we would like to have a shared dinner on the second Saturday night, well, there it was, delicious Asian food cooked to perfection.

Talk about feed the five thousand, what was it Mathew said?

Mat 14:20 They all ate as much as they wanted, and they collected the scraps left over, twelve baskets full.

Yes my word! There were plenty of leftovers for Sunday lunch.

Sharing teachings with them made me feel humble, honored and privileged all at the same time, reminding me no matter how inadequate I may feel, God calls us to this incredible mission of spreading his Word to the nations, and as long as we keep saying 'yes' to Jesus, He will keep using us to continue what He started.

These youngsters remind me that our faith is not dying but is truly alive, and I thank the Lord Jesus Christ for their absolute faith in Him and their courage to continue this work among their friends and families.

Oops! I nearly forgot their creativity did not stop at cooking—they can create songs too, and we concluded with a final song from them, 'One o'clock God' to the music of Elvis Presley's Jailhouse Rock, (didn't have the heart to tell them it was Bill Haley Rock around the clock) and surprise, surprise they prayed for us then sent us on our way.

I thank you Lord Jesus for their dedication to your mission.

Here we are, eighteen more disciples for Jesus and these are some of their comments:

"It has equipped me with the 'what' & 'who' of being a disciple of Jesus. It drew me closer to Jesus and made me accept Him as my one and only Saviour. Praise God!"

"This course has helped me to understand better about being a disciple of Jesus. It has helped me understand what God wants from my life."

"Very creative! Never expected there would be acting in the middle of teaching, loved it! And it is full of impact. I feel God has rekindled the first love I had with Him."

"Jesus is there in the teachings and the teachers"

PECs

Would you like to turn your parish into a house of formation?

An exciting new ministry has been raised up by the Holy Spirit in the Catholic Church! We have called it PECs - Parish Evangelisation Committies, and they're about to be raised up in churches all around Australia.

This ministry has come about as a response to three things:

1. Jesus has instructed us to evangelise - "Go out therefore and make disciples of all nations..." (Mt 28:19).

2. The Holy Father has instructed us to evangelise - "I sense that the moment has come to commit all of the Church's energies to a new evangelisation... No believer in Christ... can avoid this supreme duty: to proclaim Christ to all peoples" (Redemptoris Missio).

3. Archbishop Hart

(Melbourne) has instructed us to evangelise - "I urge every parish, school, agency and community operating in the Archdiocese of Melbourne, to make evangelisation its primary focus" (Pastoral Letter: We are Sent).

The School of Evangelisation, therefore, has produced a Parish Evangelisation Program which may be presented to priests and Pastoral Leadership Teams, with the intention of introducing this program into individual parishes.

The aim of this program, is to evangelise the parishioners, then teach them how to evangelise.

Our churches are emptying. Our youth is disappearing to the protestant churches, where they are very well looked after.

PECs is the answer.

Through PECs, parishioners

will learn how to have a personal relationship with Jesus, or learn how to deepen an existing one. And most importantly, people will be taught how to share their faith with other people, thus attracting the stray sheep back to the church.

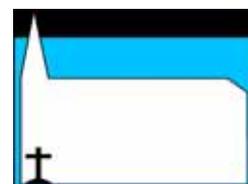

If you feel called to, or even a little interested in this ministry, we encourage you to contact us. The ground work has already been done and we can help you with presentations for your priest and any advice you may need.

It's up to us, the baptised and the faithful to do this work, so let's get working.

It's time to evangelise!

IN SEVEN PLACES AT ONCE

JOSE PEPE PRADO

History of the Schools of Evangelisation by Jose 'Pepe' Prado – founder of the School in Mexico.

The story of the birth and development of the Schools of Evangelisation follows the same track as my conversion which I can divide into three stages.

1971: First Conversion: From a good person to a son who evangelises.

As the year 1971 was coming to a close, I was satisfied with my spiritual life. I believed that the 'abundant life' was reserved for the next life. In fact I was not expecting much because I believed that I had all that was possible in this world. I studied philosophy in the seminary of the Missionaries of the Holy Spirit. My life was protected by the institution, I walked with the limits of both morals and mercy. I had tried to be a good religious, by fulfilling the rules, although certainly my spiritual life was governed more by rules than by the Holy Spirit.

I felt good about myself and did not need salvation. As well I thought that salvation was for great sinners, and I for one, did not consider myself to be one of them! I did not commit serious and scandalous sins. Within my heart though lay the worst of all sins, pharisaism or hypocrisy. I had always tried to please God and to gain his favour so He would not punish me. I had to be good to be acceptable to Him.

At the end of November 1971, a strange group arrived at the Centre of Spirituality "El Altillo". This is where I lived. They sang songs raising their hands. They spoke with God in such a way that it seemed that they could see the invisible. I was interested but all those external expressions seemed strange to my very rigid and formal spirituality, which I considered to be more serious and deeper. Nevertheless, something demanded my attention: it was their overflowing joy. They seemed to me to be crazy, but happy. I was not crazy, but I did not have that joy. They also explained the Word of God with a simplicity that touched the heart. I was a lecturer in Bible Studies and what interested me was the ability to touch the understanding of the students. These simple people, however, without Biblical formation, managed to pierce the hearts. Mine was also captured.

That night I was seated in the first row. The speaker looked into my eyes and said: "You do not have to be good for God to love you. He loves you because He is good. He loves you with unconditional love." This broke the last barrier in me, and when they asked who wanted to receive the Baptism in the Holy Spirit, I timidly raised my hand. Two Americans approached me and prayed in English. I began to cry automatically, in the manifest presence of God, while I kept repeating, "Lord I cannot, but You can." I wanted to tell the God of mystery that despite all my effort, studies and sacrifices, I had not been able to reach out and touch Him; that I could not attain Him, but He could come to me. God could reach out to me.

At that moment, I received the infilling of the Holy Spirit, who transformed my life. This was my first conversion, the Lord changing me from Pharisee to Son. The most difficult conversion is not from sinner to just, but from just to son. And if God could do it in me, He can do it in anyone. There I discovered my vocation and my mission. God called me to evangelise as a lay person in His Church. Thus, a few months later I began to evangelise. The Holy Spirit had changed me to a witness and I went to different groups in the cities of Mexico, to teach the Bible, since I had a good Biblical formation.

1980: Second Conversion: From Evangeliser to Trainer of Evangelisers.

As the work of evangeliser continued to grow, I decided to leave the chair in the Institute of Sacred Scripture and to dedicate myself full time to preaching. I visited different cities in Mexico. I also began to work in almost all Latin American countries and the United States. In 1980 East was upon us and I was feeling a little tired. So I decided to take a break with my family during Holy week. Then the first invitation arrived: Can you come to our group to explain the Seven Words of the Cross?

A request from another city was: We need you to explain to us the Paschal Mystery of Christ during Holy Week. So the invitations came, and I refused them all, until there were seven of them. I then prayed to the Lord, and said: "I do not understand You, You know I have a plan that I cannot change. Why have they asked me to preach in seven places when I cannot go?" This had never happened before and has never happened since, that I had more than two requests. In that week there were too many. I listened attentively to the inner voice that I did not understand: "Yes, you can go to the seven places where you have been invited." "Impossible", I replied aloud. "You cannot be in seven places at the same time." "It is possible", the voice clearly said. I kept thinking, how I could go to seven places at the same time... this challenge seemed impossible, but also fascinating. My imagination then began to soar, thinking of a plan about setting out a course to form apostles of the Word. I had a certain doctrinal formation, and the people needed formation, but there was no system of formation for leaders and preachers of the Word. With hesitation I mentioned my idea to a great friend, a Pentecostal pastor, William Finke, who said to me:

A PERSONAL TESTIMONY OF HEALING

LORENZO CAFARELLA

To give witness and to glorify the Lord Jesus through Faith.

One morning in the year 2002, I woke up with severe pains in my right foot. At first I did not pay attention and went about doing my normal day's work. I have always been a very active person. As time went by in the following weeks, the pain increased and I could bear it no longer.

I got out of bed and found that I was disorientated and then realised that I was in shock. As I did not feel any circulation in my foot. After an hour of rest I managed to pull myself together, got into my car and went to the chemist to purchase a walking stick. In addition I hired a pair of crutches. I kept my appointment with my doctor who sent me for x-rays and tests and everything was clear. The doctor was not convinced. He diagnosed it as osteonecrosis which meant, splitting of the bone and the appointment was made for 18th January and he referred me to the specialist. My foot was throbbing very badly and my leg was swollen from it. The pain was unbearable. I kept my appointment on the 18th with the specialist and he asked me to have more x-rays and an MRI. They then discovered the split talus.

On Monday evening I went to the prayer group at East Benteleigh. I believed that Jesus could heal me so I asked Cathy Dolby for prayer for my right leg. She prayed and asked me to stand and to leave my walking stick and go to the altar before Jesus and to thank Jesus for the healing. The pain had left me instantly but my leg was still swollen. I thanked her and she said "Don't thank me, thank Jesus. I gave witness to what Jesus of Nazareth had done for me.

In January 2004 my left leg collapsed. I went to the same specialist and he said, like the right leg, he had only seen six cases like mine and that two people died because they had diabetes and he stated that if I had the same they would have to amputate my leg. I began to tell him about the miracle I had with my first leg and he said it was too much philosophy for him. He was confused as to what had happened to the right leg. I was asked to do hydro and physiotherapy. I was in great pain and had to walk with crutches.

I decided to go back to Cathy for inner healing at her home and she said to me that I was a very wounded person and had to forgive.

During the prayer service of forgiveness, she prayed that Jesus would give me the grace to forgive. I surrendered my life to Jesus and I made the decision to forgive everyone in my life and I was set free. Jesus once more healed me thoroughly and I was walking again without any crutches.

Thanks to the merciful heart of Jesus I am now able to walk and to dance! I praise and thank God each day for what he has done for me. It was a great relief to be free of the un-forgiveness which I found very hard but I persevered to the very end and the great baggage I carried all these years was now released. My faith in the Lord Jesus Christ, who I firmly believe is the Healer, saved me.

I ask you to put your faith and believe in the Lord Jesus and in his healing and I can assure you, you will witness the glory of God in your life. Halleluiah!

- "That is a very dangerous idea, because it could change the life of the Church".
- "I believe God is asking this of me, but I do not have the least idea of how to go about it. I do not have the experience."
- "I can help you", he offered casually.

We came to a few agreements. The School would be Catholic for Catholics. I would teach the doctrinal part and he would teach the practical part. Then we had to ask approval from Church authorities. This looked as unlikely as crossing the Red Sea. But for me there was no other way. We got in our friend's small plane with the Bishop responsible for giving permission. When we flew above the clouds Bill asked the Bishop:

- "Do you want to fly the plane?"
- "Yes", the Bishop replied, as I began to pray with real fervour.
- "This is the altimeter, you must always be careful to keep an eye on it", indicated my friend.
- "Yes" the Bishop responded.
- "This is the compass which shows you the direction we must go."
- "Yes", the Bishop responded.
- "This gauge tells you how much fuel you still have", he said more quickly.
- "Yes" the Bishop responded.
- "And this indicated the inclination of the plane."
- "Yes", the Bishop responded.
- "This pedal serves to increase speed."

- "Yes", responded the Bishop.
- "Will you give permission for us to conduct a School of Evangelisation?"

"Yes" responded the Bishop, as we began our descent for landing. That wasn't easy but it was very exciting. There is nothing more exciting than to start to move through the water, without any humanly assurance. It's marvellous how the Lord not only opened and will open again the waters of the Red Sea for us to cross, but also to realise that the moment we begin to walk towards the water, the water itself opens up to provide a path. That was true in our case, all our difficulties dissipated at the pace of our steps. Even opposition from some good people who once were hindering our evangelisation project, disappeared.

INTREPID EVANGELISERS

CATHY MCLURE

Some people won't let anything stop them from the mission of evangelisation. You may or may not be aware that our intrepid evangeliser and National Coordinator of the School of Evangelisation, Patrick Kelly often travels to and from SOE courses on his motorbike when other modes of transport are unavailable to him.

In March this year one of the helpers at the Formation of Disciples course, Dorothy Smith, needed to get from Bass to Cowwarr, a distance of two hours by road but much longer by bus, train etc. So Patrick offered her the armchair ride in his sidecar. This great grandmother was happy to accept and arrived safely just as the tyre blew out.

To what lengths are you willing to go to evangelise?

NEWS FROM PAPUA NEW GUINEA

NEWS FROM FR CHARLEY KAPE CHRIST THE KING PARISH – KAMULAI PAPUA NEW GUINEA

Fr Charley is a graduate of the School of Evangelisation in Canberra. He has a great heart for the gospel and was host to Nan Deakin and Adrian Commadeur on their first visit to PNG in 1999. This letter was addressed to Ferdie Sedhoff, graduate and teacher in the School, now living in Diddillibah, near Maroochydore, Queensland.

“Access to communicating with you was quite difficult. As I am in the remotest part of our Diocese and another burden added is the transportation.

We are supposed to advance yet we are in a great regression. Roads and Airstrips are closed on us and essential services have stopped as well. We are almost going back to the stage of “survival of the fittest”. I am still kicking on despite all the hardships of life and service.

The only means to reach out to my outstations is by walking 6-9 hours from the main station.

Though it is hard, one consolation I get is I have all that time to be in tune with the Lord.

Another consolation is that the people are basically simple, down to earth and bring out so much joy meeting them. It just switches on the compassionate button and on many occasions it brings tears of joy to my eyes.

You can see the simple faith of the people and their understanding of God. This has become the dynamic force that keeps me going despite the tough going conditions.

However, since Easter 2003 we had three murder cases. It was during a traditional feast that a chief who wanted to settle some argument between two parties was beaten up brutally and eventually killed. In retaliation to the deceased the younger brother then went on head hunting and shot two people— a young man and a woman.

All people in the area flee for cover. Fear is now the great factor in bringing back the people. Very little was done by the police to apprehend the trouble shooters.

There was a lot of tension, no reconciliation has yet taken place. My interventions seem to be ignored and this has greatly impaired any pastoral work.

Just recently another two young men were murdered bringing the tally to five. It is very serious now and my option is to hold a ‘prayer and fasting camp’ with some leaders to intercede for the parish: to seek God’s will, and to make a break-through for the renewal program to continue.

I ask for your assistance by mentioning this to the prayer groups for prayers. Our camp will take place in August. About 20 people from all corners of the parish will participate. There is hope for a breakthrough.

Note: Fr Charley seeks our financial help as well as spiritual. If you feel called to assist or write to him, you can send mail direct to Fr Charley Kape, Christ the King Parish, Kamulai, PO Box 309, Boroko, NCD PNG. (Do not send money by mail. Money can be sent through Ferdie Sedhoff, 710 Petrie

In the summer of 1980, we started the first course of the school in a very old house, a poor house full of creepy creatures. We had space for 44 student and we received 42 responses to our call, among them 2 priests. The first course lasted for a month, and thanks to the experience of my friend Bill Finke, we learned how to evangelise. That was the initial beginning of our first school that we named: "School of Apostles".

At this time, my second conversion took place: I was not only evangelising but forming other evangelisers. I (myself) was learning that evangelising work needs to be done as a team, it can not be done otherwise. It was not a task for a single person, but the work of a group. Slowly but steadily more people were added to the school.

1990: 3rd Conversion: From trainer of evangelisers to trainer of trainers.

I became part of the Evangelisation Project 2000, directing the project in Latin America. From the beginning I thought, without new evangelisers there could be no new evangelisation, but they need training. Who would do it?

The schools of evangelisation multiplied and we had to go on and give it nourishment. Then my vision grew. I had to take the time to shape trainers for the schools. I realised that having a vision is most essential for a work, because it results in action. However, I soon perceived that action makes the vision grow. As the vision grows, the action deepens. And vice versa, as the action takes place, so the vision grows.

The key person at this stage was Clara Macias, who left everything to come to be part of the work.

In this way, in 1994, the mustard seed had grown and transformed into the tree of "School of San Andrew", so named because he sought out Peter, who would follow, serve, preach and love the Lord Jesus, more and better than anyone.

At the beginning of the third millennium there are more than 1500 schools of evangelisation in 57 countries. They are forming new evangelisers for the New Evangelisation.

So it is that I have come to the conclusion that evangelisation is possible in "7" places at the same time.... If we train evangelisers.

Our dream, our vision, is: A school of evangelisation in each parish of the Catholic Church.

Jesus Proclaimed in the Market Place

Carmen Sylvester

"Celebrate Emmanuel" has come of age in Adelaide in the Rundle Mall. If you were there then you know it was a fun filled concert where Jesus was proclaimed in the market place without shame and with such Joy that the shoppers in the Mall had to stop and look and hear about Emmanuel, God who is with us.

God blessed us with the most glorious day and with artists who unashamedly proclaimed Jesus as Lord, as Saviour, as their God.

A priest who belts out Elvis songs and a nun who sings with a voice of an angel are rare sights indeed in the main shopping Mall of Adelaide.

"One Accord" joined us for the third year running and it was evident that their enthusiasm in praising God brought the Mall alive with the sound of sweet voices and exuberant music.

No doubt there were people touched by the powerful voice and easy manner of Lisa. A recording Gospel singer from opera singer. His rendition of Holy Night to start the carols segments had people staring in awe at such a powerful voice.

Adelaide, Lisa writes her own compositions which are full of the message of God's Mercy, Love and Forgiveness.

Our MC, a young man of only 21, also has a string of achievement under his belt including, being the youngest ever

Clowns from the team of the School of Evangelisation completed the program and added to the festive atmosphere as they handed out huge balloons with the beautiful message on them "A Savior is Born Today"

It was a day to THANK GOD for and one to remember when "Emmanuel" came to the market place and many came to worship him.

The Adelaide team sends you Greetings. May the Blessings of God be with you this Christmas Season and in the New Year.
